Historical data shown here may not be reliable indication for the future and the indicated risk category is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment. No investment is risk free.

- The Fund belongs to risk category 7, i.e. the risk level of the Fund can be considered very high. Detailed information about risks can be found in the Fund prospectus, the current Key Investor Information document only indicates most important risks.
- Fund's assets are invested into securities related to Russia and CIS countries which are generally considered higher risk regions.
- The Fund's investments are focused on mid/small-cap companies which further increase the Fund's risk level. Mid and small-cap companies have relatively low liquidity and therefore the liquidity risk is higher.

- Despite of the fact that Russian markets are considered to have high liquidity, the liquidity risk related to Fund's investments still remains.
- The daily volatility risk is high as the Fund has focused its investments to high-risk Russian and CIS operating mid/small-cap companies.
- The Fund may invest in derivatives for the purpose of hedging the risks and in some cases achieving its investment objective. Derivatives are exposed to counterparty credit risk and risks arising from the potential complexities of the nature of derivatives.
- In its operations the Fund faces different operational risks; e.g. counterparty risks, risks in settlement systems and risks relating to securities registries. The counterparty risk is higher as Russian locally listed securities are settled as free of payment (FOP) trades.
- Due to the Fund's strategy to invest in Russia and CIS countries specific risk factors of those countries may be risk factors for the Fund as well. These include possible high government control over companies, economies' possible dependency on only a few sectors (e.g. commodities), possible weak legal frameworks and potential tensions within the countries and between other countries (e.g. riots, uprisings, coups and wars). The Fund Management Company shall devote substantial attention and resources to analysing and monitoring these issues; however, the risk of negative impacts on the Fund's net asset value still remains.
- All the risks indicated above, should they realise, may cause significant losses for the investor.
